CONDITION OF THE MARKETS

An Improved Feeling in Wheat, Accompanied by Slightly Higher Prices.

Corn Strong and Higher, but the Upward Tendency Not So Marked as in Wheat-Provisions of All Kinds Bring Better Prices. MONEY, BONDS AND STOCKS.

Great Activity in the Grangers, with Moderate Business in Other Stocks.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15 .- Money on call was easy at 102 per cent; closing offered at I per cent. Prime mercantile paper, 54 064 per cent.

Sterling exchange was quiet but firm, with actual business at $4.84% for sixty day bills, and $4.88%

The total sales of stocks to-day were 195,433 shares, including the following: Delaware, Lackawanna & Western 10,600; Eris, 1,500; Hocking Valley, 2,775; Louisville & Nashville, 2,605; Northwestern, 30,925; Northern Pacific, 2,740; New England, 6,135, Oregon & Transcontinental, 7,690; Reading, 13,300; Richmond & West Point, 2,290; St. Paul, 78,240; Texas Pacific, 1,800; Union Pacific. 6,400, Western Union, 4,520.

The stock market was active only for the grangers to-day, while the rest of the list showed a very moderate business, but everything, without exception, was weak, and prices are still lower this evening. Many brokers expected some sort of a reaction this morning, but the traders and Chicago houses hammered the grangers from the start, which yielded very freely and carried the entire list with them. First prices were 2 per cent. below last evening's figures, and St. Paul went down with a run, losing one per cent. in the first five minutes, and its decline was not checked until near 11 o'clock, when it had yielded 6 per cent. from its opening price. The preterred stock, in the same time, lost 21g per cent. and Northwestern, which had been comparatively well held, only 1 per cent. Manhattan developed a soft streak and lost over a point, but the market then rallied. The new buying started at the low figures. Prices in the general list, however, continued to yield slowly until toward the close, when everything rallied again and a fractional improvement from the lowest prices, which extended to everything traded in, was made. London, which had been a prominent seller of both St. Paul and Reading, then became a buyer, and the market finally closed quiet and firm. The final losses are marked in many cases, and St. Paul declined 31g, the preferred 23g; Omaha and Northwestern, 12g; Canada Southern, Jersey Central, Lake Erie & Western preferred and Northern Pacific preferred, each 1 per cent, and others fractional amounts. ing, but the traders and Chicago houses hammered

The rathroad bond market was again dull and with-out feature of interest. The dealings were confined to an unusually small number of issues, and, while the tone of the transactions was heavy, the changes in quotations were very small and unimportant, exanywhere in the list, the total sales for the two hours' seasion reaching only $500,000. The sales of bonds for the week were $7,000.000, against $6,727,000 for last week. Government bonds were dult but firm. State bonds were neglected. Closing quotations wheat to-day, and prices advanced about 14c on a good, active market. To begin with, the early board cables gave futures higher on the other side. It also appeared that foreign markets had not declined with special that foreign markets had not declined with others, and were quite prompt to respond to an upward movement. The sentiment of the trade here and elsewhere was much improved on the buying side since last night. Heavy scalpers, who held on yesterday easily took profits on their Friday purchases to day. The market was remarkably free from depression on realizing. There was nothing in the statistics or crop movements to add much to the strength. The best item on the "bull" side was the falling off in receipts at interior winter-wheat points. Wheat closed firm at the outside point of the day, with December about the higher for the day. The receipts of corn were not up to the estimate, and with the change of feeling in wheat and provisions there was also a stronger feeling in corn. Futures opened to over the close, and sold about the higher during the morning. About noon there was a reacduring the morning. About noon there was a reaction to last night's prices, but another little bulge before the close left prices last higher. It was a strong market for provisions. Pork opened at about last night's closing figures, but advanced 17 be per barrel, closing at about top prices. There was some talk of manipulation in lard, which advanced 102 .27 c, the outside for October, closing at the best figures of the day. Ribs close for October and January. 02 c.05c advance. Oats were dull and week, but there was no decline, and May sold a little better. There was no afterneon session. The leading futures ranged as follows:

To-day Closes a Brisk Week's Trade-Prices in the Main Strong.

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 15. The volume of business in the week ending to-day was the largest in any week for some months, and fall trade in several lines has set in briskly. Seldom do the dry goods men have a better week's trade. Country merchants take hold freely, and are much pleased with the goods offered and the prices as well. Prices are firm at the revision of Thursday last. Grocers have had a busy week, the strong and upward tendency of sugars stimulating trade generally. Trade with the commission houses has been good. Receipts of produce are large, but, with a good demand during the week, the market gets well cleared of surplus stocks. Apples and potatoes are in large supply, prices ruling weak. Peaches are arriving very freely, but the commission men manage to work them off at fair prices. Eggs, butter and poultry all firm at quotations. The wool market rules a little tame; no improvement in prices, and less inquiry as regards stocks. Millers report the demand for flour good, but they are hardly satisfied with the prices. Leather-dealers and the boot and shoe men report trade excellent. Druggists, confectioners and dealers in fancy goods and notions all report trade improving. A cloud still hangs over the hide market.

The week closes with a strong local market. Bidding on 'Change was quite spirited. Receipts of all cereals light. Track bids ruled as follows:

READING FOR THE SABBATH.

Sunday-School Lesson for Sept. 23, 1888. DEATH AND BURIAL OF MOSES-Deut. xxxiv, 1-12. Golden Text-The path of the just is as the shining light .- Prov. iv. 18. Mon-Num. xxxiii, 37-56... From Kadesh to Jordan Tues-Deut. Xxxii, 1-28... The song of Moses Wed-Deut. xxxii. 29-52... Song continued Thurs-Num. xxxiii, 1-20... Moses's parting blessing Fri-Num. xx, 1-13Failing to believe God Sat-Prov. iv, 1-19Path of the just Sun-Psalm xc, 1-17Prayer of Moses

From the time of "The Smitten Rock" of the last lesson, in the spring of 1452 B. C., to the death and burial of Moses, there occurred many important historic events. The Israelites being denied a passage through Edom to Canaan (Num xx, 14-22), go to Mount Hor, where Aaron died, after resigning his place to Eleazer, his son (xx, 20-29.) The people, discouraged and murmuring, are punished by the fiery serpents. and then Moses rears a brazen serpent, a splendie type of Christ (xxi, 40.) Great kings, like Sihon and Og, are overcome (xxi. 21-35.) Then coma's the story of Balak and Balaam, the heathen prophet (xxii, 24), with his famous prophecy of "the star out of Jacob (xxiv, 17.) Joshua is appointed to succeed Moses (xxvii, 18-23.) The land on the east of the Jordan is given to the tribes of Rouben and Gad (xxxii, 1-6.) The story closes with the last words and song of Moses (Deut. xxxii), and the record of his death and burnal.

The last two chapters of Deuteronomy, including the present lesson, were added doubtless by another hand after the death of Moses. As Poole well says: "This fact is no impeachment to the divine authority of these closing chapters, any more than it is to an act of Parhisment that such act happens afterward to be written out or printed by some unknown person." Either Joshua or Ezra probably wrote the closing chapters under divine inspiration.

The death of Moses occurred somewhere about the middle of the last month of the fortieth year after leaving Egypt, which would be the latter part of February, B. C. 1451, or according to Keil and Edersheim, B. C. 1453. After the vision of the land from Pisgab, the highest peak of Mount Nebo, which is one of the mountains of Moab northeast of the Dead sea, with the hosts of Israel encamped between the mountains and the Jordan at his feet, ready to enter the promised land, this great leader and legislator passed away at the age of 120, with no abatement of physical or mental power, leaving one of the grandest names in his-

THE SUCCESSOR OF MOSES HERE (9). It would seem most difficult to supply the place of Moses, but God always has some good man for the vacant place-a man that, with other talents and powers, carries forward the work of God. His original name was Oshea (Num. xiii, 8), meaning salvation, or help. But God changed it to Je-oshea, or Joshua, meaning God's salvation, or God's help. What an honor, and vet every man can be a helper of the Lord. He was full of the spirit of wisdom. God can use the weak things of this world, but when he wants a leader be chooses men of wisdom. men of good sense and experience, like Moses, and David, and Daniel, and Steven and Paul. Moses had laid his hands upon him, giving the people an outward sign of his choice of Joshua. and possibly, also, a means through which God communicated additional spiritual qualifications. So God's work goes on. The workman dies, but not the work.

THE GREATNESS OF MOSES (10-12.) The character and influence of Moses have heen the subject of admiration in all ages. To the Jew, the Mohammedan and the Christian he stands at the fountsin head of their religious ideas and usages. The Lord knew him face to face, in a more free and intimate way than any that followed bim. He was great in every work the Lord sent him to do. He was great as a lawgiver, as a leader, as a statesman, as a mediator. as a writer, as a general. He was great in the eyes of his enemies, in all the great terror which Moses showed, "which Moses wrought" (Rev. Ver.) Though having his faults, he was great in his mee kness, his faith, his consecration, his prayerfulne ss. It is evident that these last verses must have been added by some other hand than that of Moses.

HINTS AND HELPS FOR TRACHERS. Some Test Questions-1. Where are the plains of Monb and Mount Nebol 2 Where were Jericho and Gilead! 3. Where were "the utmost sea" and the "south" land? 4. When did God sware unto Abraham, and Isaac, and Jacob to give the land to their seed! 5. What is the meaning of "the word of the Lord." in verse 51 6. Where was Beth-peor, and why so named? What were the methods of weeping and mourning for the dead!

Points for Class Talks-I. "Moses went up from the plains." "and the Lord showed him all the land." We must make an effort to see the things afar off and ahead, and then the Lord will aid us. 2. "This is the land which I sware unto Abraham" to give his seed. But it was occupied 400 years by others—yet God forgot not His word. To-day the enemy has possession of many things that the Lord will occupy in His own good time. 3. Seeing the premised land that others will conquer. 4. "Ne man knoweth his sepulchre." But what matters that? His work lived on, and God's eye was upon his sleeping dust. The folly of costly sepulchres. 5. Some Joshua ready when the work of Moses is done. 6. Beautiful submission of Moses and noble treatment of his successor.

APPLICATION. The sad limitations that good men make to their own happiness and usefulness. The sin of folly may be forgiven, but we suffer some restrictions, like Moses shut out of Cansan, and others are called to complete our work .- New York Advocate.

Religious Notes. Forever all goodness will be most charming:

forever all wickedness will be most odious. The ambitious, the covetons, the superficial and the ill-designing are apt to be bold and forward. - Swift. It is a great mercy to enjoy the gospel of peace, but a greater to enjoy the peace of the gospel.-Hannah Lee. If I can put some touches of a rosy sunset into the life of any man or woman, then I feel that I have walked with God .- George Mac-To character and success, two things, contradictory as they may seem, must go togetherhumble dependence and manly independence; humble dependence on God, and manly reliance on self .- Wordsworth. The Quaker meeting-house at Bird-in-Hand. Pa., the oldest in the State, was destroyed by fire recently. It was constructed of logs in 1749, and in 1790 a larger brick building was built about the log structure. This is the most fearful characteristic of viceits irresistable fascination-the ease with which it sweeps away resolution, and wins a man to forget his momentary outlook, his throb of penitence, in the embrace of indulgence. - E. H.

Chapin. For the Providence, R. I., Young Men's Christian Association building there have been received two pledges of $10,000 each, pine of $5,000 each, twenty-two of $1,000 each, and twenty-one of $500. It will be one of the most modern buildings adapted to the needs of young Faith is that conviction upon the mind of the truth of the promises and threatenings of God make known in the gospel; of the certain reality of the rewards and punishments of the life to come, which enables a man, in opposition to all the temptations of a corrupt world, to obey God, in expectation of an invisible reward hereafter.

-Dr. S. Clarke. The heroes of mankind are the mountains. the highlands of the moral world. They diversify its monotony, they furnish the watershed of its history, as the Grampians, or the Alps, or the Andes. which tower over the lowlands and fertilize the plains and divide the basins of the world of nature. They are the "full-welling fountain-heads of change," as well as the serene heights of repose. - Dean Stanley.

Dr. Puddefoot, of home missionary fame, who has just returned from a European trip, is troubled over the prevalence of awearing in this country. "I heard more profane language." he remarked, "in going from the Bible-house in New York to Brooklyn than pained my ears all the time I was abroad; a horse-car conductor here uttered more caths over a broken lantero than one would hear for a month in London." The English bishops, in their "encyclical" letter, treating on the subject of intemperance. say, "Highly valuable as we believe total abstipence to be as a means to an end, we desire to discountenance the language which condemns the use of wine as wrong in itself, independent of its effects on ourselves and others. We have expressed our disapproval of a practice of substituting some other liquid in the celebration of the holy communion.' One of the most effective Church of England preachers of to-day is said to have found out by accident that he could preach. Reading a sermon in a country church on a dark afternoon. the light failed him and he was compelled to go on without the aid of his manuscript. His success was not only a revelation to the people, but to himself as well, and he soon acquired fame as a preacher. Indeed, it may be said that he is a new minister since he learned to preach.

Purity is a sixth sense, opening to us what the material senses can never discern, the vision of God. The most beautiful things open not to the eye, but to the soul fitted to understand them. Blessed are the pure in heart, for they see what the artistic eye of no Turner, Titian, or Reynolds can detect. To see God is a higher gift than to discern the beauties His band has diffused through nature. To a man of materialistic tastes a poet-painter said: "When the sun rises you see something like a golden guinea coming out of the sea; I see, and hear likewise, something like an innumerable company of angels praising God.—Zion's Herald. In a recent letter to the Nova Scotia Western Baptist Association Mr. Spurgeon says, after disposing of the charge that he had been unkindly used by the Baptist Union of England: Neither is the shadow of truth in the rumor that I have quitted the Baptists. To leave one society of a denomination is not to quit the body. I am, by the grace of God, a baptized believer and a baptizer of believers. Much of the evils I protest against comes from outside the Baptists. The new theology is as alien to the creeds or Baptists of former days as it is false to Christianity. Brethren, I am one with you, and I hope to live and die in a fellowship with you.

Philadelphia has a new religious sect whose title is fearfully and wonderfully constructed. It is "The Ecclesia of Israel; the Cyipz or Worshiping Congregation of Our Father's King-dom on Earth." They have revised the opening sentences of the Lord's Prayer so that they read: "Our Father who art in Heaven, hallowed be Thy name; Thy hand of power our souls do fear; Thine ear of love our prayers do hear; Thy voice of light illumes our feet; unto Thy house our steps we bend, eternity with Thee to spend; Thy kingdom has come; now let Thy will be done on earth as it is in Heaven." Parental co-operation in Christian and saving work is all important to the minister's success among the young. Without it he can do very lit-tle. The family influence can neutralize and paralyze all his efforts. The child may be seriously impressed by his preaching, but on going home he finds there no interest manifested in his state of mind; no word in season spoken to him; no voice of prayer going up for his conversion; no plous example wooing him to Jesus Christ. Hence he concludes that there is no reality in religion, and dismisses it from his attention. Godless homes are terrible hindrances to the preached word. Most conversions come from pious households. To these favored places the gospel herald looks most confidently for the trophies of redeeming love.—Presbyterian Observer.

NOTES AND NEWS.

Professor Kolransch has recently estimated the quantity of electricity in a flash of lightning. He finds that from seven to thirty-five flashes would be required to keet an ordinary incandes-cent lamp alight for an hour.

At an inquest on a Cheshire farm servant it was testified that the deceased, only nineteen, had worked the whole of that week, getting only three hours rest each night. A companion of the dead man said: "It is the custom. If you won't go somebody else will."

Six years ago work was begun on a new palace for the Mikado of Japan, and now it is about finished. It has 400 rooms; the dining room will seat 127 persons; the furniture for the state dertment all came from Germany, and in one of the reception rooms is an American piano.

Not only in London, but in Philadelphia, it is eonsidered out of place for a married lady or even an unmarried lady out of her teens to to wear a hat to church. A bonnet is the thing. The hat is supposed to be for the street, the theater, etc., but for all formal or dignified occassions the most exacting Philadelphia taste requires a bonnet.

Two new things are very noticeable at Saratoga this autumn. The first is that the ladies bave discarded gloves. They do not wear them while walking, driving, dancing, or apparently at any time whatever. The second is the absence of wine in the dining-rooms of the big hotels. On one day, when there was not a bottle in sight, the diners included twenty-one millionaires.

An English woman telegraphed to the police authorities at Bolton to arrest her eloping daughter, who was a passenger on a train that would pass there. She mentioned the girl's lameness, so that the police might easily identify her. Curiously enough, there turned out to be two lame girl passengers, and the wrong one was arrested. The other passed on and got married. A Yankee has established a terrapin farm about sixty miles from Mobile. An inclosure of three scres in extent contains several ditches 100 feet in length and ten feet in width, and these are filled with salt water by two canals. In these ditches about 30,000 turtles are domesticated. In winter they lie imbedded in the mud, and are very convenient creatures to keep, seeing at this season they never eat any food. The turtles cost about $1 per season to feed, and sell in New York for $17 per dozen.

There was a fine opportunity offered in England to buy a castle rich in historical associations, the Devizes castle, in Wiltshire, a little while ago. But historical associations are apparently not so highly prized by people with money as comfortable quarters, well-ventilated apartments and modern improvements generally; for, though the auctioneer gently binted that £60,000 would be accepted as a starting bid, the property was knocked down for £8,000. "Well," said the horse-dealer who, after asking $200 for a broken-down mag with every ailment known to veterinary science, had been offered $7.50, "you can have him, but it's a d-lof a dis-

Here is another extract from that amusing Southern parody on "The Quick or the Dead:" "Slowly the roseleaf lids, heavy with sorrow-or something-revealed the dawn of those Aurora-ed eyes; and Agamemna saw-propped upon her dimpled knees—the longed for telegram. With lightning flashy zig-zage of her perfeetly manicured nails, she tore it open and, hungry-evedly, gulped its scribbled contents.
With a slim glide of her lissom limbs, Agamemna squirmed from her bed, landing single-springly in midfloor. Shaking her grand head, the golden hairpins in her coiled fleece of fire swirled round her in a glistening shower, gemming the dusty floor as stars in an urbane storm sky! One more twist of the strong limbs and her wrapper left the shining satin of skin, as she stood Godivaly in the spun filament of her red-gold capillam!

Dr. Price, of Oconee county, Georgia, suffered for years the pangs of rheumatism, vaicly try-ing all remedies. Six years ago one of his sons in Texas heard that a hairless Mexican dog, if allowed to sleep at the feet of a sufferer from rheumatism, was a sure cure. He bought a dog and took it home to his father. The old gentleman laughed at the idea of such a cure. Dut to please his son he tried the dog. The account says that as soon as the doctor lay down in bed the dog "sprang in and coiled itself around his feet. In less than an hour the dog gave him evident relief, and in a short time effected a cure. Wherever the pain struck bim he made the dog lie against the place, and the heat from the animal's body drew it out like a mustard plaster. Every night for six years the doctor has slept with his hairless bed-fellow, who now begins to show the effects of age, and Dr. Price says that after its death, if the rheumatic pains return, he will at once send off for another Mexican dog."

A writer in St. Nicholas thus attempts to formulate human character from handwriting: "A certain number of men are calm, even lived. sensible and practical. Men of that class are almost certain to write plain, round hands in which every letter is distinctly legible; neither very much slauted forward, nor tilted backward; no letter very much bigger than its neighbor nor with heads much above or tails much below the letters not so distinguished: the letters all having the same general uprightness and the lines true to the edges of the paper, neither tending upward nor downward. Exact, business-like people will have an exact handwriting. Fantastic minds revel in quirks and streamers, particularly for the capital letters, and this quality is not infrequent in certain business hands, as if the writers found a relief from the prosaic nature of their work in giving flourishes to certain letters. Firm, decided, downright men are apt to bear on the pen while writing, and to make their strokes hard and thick. On the contrary, people who are not sure of themselves. and are lacking self-control, press unevenly, and with anxious looking, scratchy hands. Ambitious people are apt to be overworked; they are always in haste and either forget to cross their t's, or dot their i's. They are also apt to run the last few letters of every word into an illegible scrawl. Flurried, troubled and conscience twinged persons have a crabbed and un-

The speaker was Mr. Albert Steiner, of No. 289 Riverside avenue, West Indianapolis. "Yes," he continued, "last spring I was treated by Dr. Franklyn Blair and eured.
